

COMPANY PROFILE

ESS General Trading was established in 1995 focusing on providing our clients with the right product for their applications and services second to none. The company's journey began in Damascus, Syria representing major product suppliers such as Honeywell, in Fire Alarm and Security System, MK Wiring Accessories, Panasonic CCTV, central stations and firefighting utilizing the Tyco (LPG) brand.

Our philosophy of do it right—or don't do it at all—begins with system engineering and design. Market specialists work with engineers and system designers to ensure that each customer's true needs are addressed in our system designs. Ease-of-use, expansibility and reliability are the benchmarks of our material selection process. ESS's team applies their real world experience and technical expertise to each application.

Through continuing staff development, ESS's team stays abreast of current technology, changing trends, and new product development and application. This staff experience, combined with our high level of customer service, allows ESS to deliver complaint solution and cost effective. We take pride in making sure that our clients receive the maximum return on their investment.

We have always been committed to growth in ME region and in 2006; we opened our branch in Qatar. In 2011, we moved all our company activities to our main office in Dubai and closed our branch in Syria, responding to the growing demand of our customers inside UAE.

What's so special about ESS? In a word: is our team.

Our GM Mr. Hani M, providing his high education and over 20+ years of experience, has the ability to help our customers as consultant to ensure they have the right product per their application.

Our sales team is handpicked and understands what our clients need.

Mr Renju Philip, is a Commerce degree-holder with 6 years of experience specializing in electrical sales in Abu Dhabi market.

Mr Santosh Lalwani, who pursued degree in Business Administration has 9 years of experience inside UAE specializing in creative sales and marketing of electrical supplies.

Mr Stanley John, who has a successful and valuable experience of nearly 11 years in Sales & Marketing and Business Development.

All of them are capable professionals who understand the value of leading by example.

We listen, and design according to specs and help strengthen the position of our client in front of the end-user.
